Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Petersen US 6849749, Hilden et al US 6753433 and/or Gao et JP 2002114770 abstract (best available) in view of Belanger et al US 5087638.

As noted in for example, Bogeso US 4650884 as tacitly conceded by applicants, 5-substituted-1-(4-fluorophenyl)-1,3-dihydroisobenzofuran are well-known and key intermediates in the manufacture of citalopram. See, e.g. column 2. Petersen teaches arylation of a substituted phthalide with a Grignard reagent and halophenyl and dichloromethane in the manner described by applicants. See e.g. column 8 example 5 lines 16-36. Hilden et al also teach an analogous process using e.g. chlorobenzene as one of the solvents in the arylation step. See e.g.

column 5 lines 1-34 and 35-61. Likewise Gao et al teaches analogous process using benzene. See the abstract. It would have been obvious to use other solvents known for use in these type of reactions particularly in view of Belanger et al which teaches an analogous process using ether and ethylene dichloride solvents as the results would not have been unexpected. See, for example, column 19 Scheme IV and lines 1-56.

Regarding applicants' comments it is noted that the solvent and co-solvents are known in the art for use in dihydroisobenzofuran production in the manner recited in applicants' claims. It is noted that the term "comprising" also includes other analogous solvents. In addition Petersen teaches the basic Grignard reaction and the subsequent ring closure, e.g. column 4 lines 50 and column 5 lines 15+. Additionally the process is taught as doable as a one-pot reaction. It is conceded that no one reference teaches the claimed invention, however, to use somewhat different but otherwise analogous reaction components in an otherwise known process where the starting material, final product and basic reaction steps are cumulatively known would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill as the results would not have been unexpected.

No claim is allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
